Booking Terms & Conditions

Costs

Himalayan Holiday trips are always quoted in US dollars. The reason for this is, that in order to save you money, we deal directly with our Kathmandu operator whom is paid in US dollars. To avoid constantly changing our prices in order to manage the currency fluctuations, we believe it is better to sell the trips in US dollars then you the client will be aware of what is happening regarding the dollar exchange rate and can confidently budget for your trip. Unless stated otherwise, costs are based on twin share accommodation.

Booking Conditions

Non refundable deposit of $350 must be paid at time of booking and booking form must be completed.

Final payment is due 60 days prior to departure. Failure to pay the final payment by the due date may result in the termination of your booking.

Cancellation Fees

Cancellation must be advised in writing, if received by Himalayan Holidays more than 45 days prior to departure, the non-refundable deposit will be retained, plus any air cancellation fees that may apply.

If cancellation is received within 45 days of departure, the following per person cancellation fees will apply:

15 - 45 days prior to departure: 50% of total price

7 - 14 days prior to departure: 75% of total price

less than 7 days prior to departure: 100% of total price.

Should you wish to amend your booking in any way this may be done up to 14 days before departure providing it is possible to make the changes with the ground operator. There will be an administration cost of $50 per amendment. Changes to airline bookings may incur costs and further penalties from the airlines.

Travel Insurance

Travel insurance with unlimited medical cover, covering emergency evacuation and any pre-existing medical conditions is compulsory for all trips. Evidence that your insurance cover will cover all components of the chosen trip is required before a booking can proceed. Himalayan Holidays also recommends that your cover includes cancellation, delays and loss of personal effects.

Visas

Visas must be organized and obtained by you prior to your departure from Australia unless your trip states under inclusions that the visa will be organized for you by our ground operator.

Health and fitness requirements

It is your responsibility to ensure that your fitness and medical condition is appropriate for the type of trip you have chosen to undertake and to advise Himalayan Holidays of any pre-existing medical condition which may adversely affect your ability to fully participate in the trip you have chosen. You may be asked to provide a medical certificate from a doctor providing evidence of medical assessment. A reasonable level of fitness is required for most Himalayan Holiday trips although the grading does vary between trips. Please check the grading of the trip you are booking as an inability to fully and independently participate in the trip could endanger yourself, other trip members and the ground operator staff. The guide reserves the right to ask you to remain and rest at a certain location with a staff member or cancel your participation at any stage of the trip with no right to a refund if the guide believes that on going participation may endanger you or others.

Conduct on trip

Each person who travels overseas has a responsibility to ensure they understand the laws of the country and to not contravene those laws. Himalayan Holidays does not accept any responsibility for the outcome if your conduct contravenes a law or regulation of the region you travel in. The guide has the authority to cancel your trip without any right of refund at any time if your conduct may endanger you or is offensive to others. The guide also has the authority to change the itinerary at any time due to weather, road conditions, natural disaster or political situations if the guide considers it prudent to do so.

Acknowledgement of risk

The trips organized by Himalayan Holidays take place in regions that do not have the same standard of safety, medical conditions, hygiene, roads, bridges etc as those that you may be used to where you live. The regions are remote, weather conditions can be extreme and can change at any time, earthquakes, landslides, fire and floods may occur in the region. Political instability may cause disruption to a tour. It is your responsibility to ensure you are aware of the risks involved by visiting www.dfat.gov.au and it is recommended that you register your intention to travel with the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade.

Exclusion of Liability

Himalayan Holidays known as the company acts as an agent for the operators in various regions and assumes no responsibility for the actions and omissions of others, including the staff and operators of locally based company or Australian tour guides. Himalayan Holidays does not accept any liability for any injury, death or any mishap that may occur on a trip. While all care and diligence taken is taken in organizing the accommodation, meals, sightseeing and treks through our ground operators, facilities may change at any time and the company is not responsible for the standard and operation of such or whether a hotel booking is transferred to another hotel. The company reserves the right to change the prices at any time until the trip is paid for in full. The company reserves the right to cancel a trip due to unforeseen circumstances, in such cases the money paid will be refunded less any non refundable costs such as visas, airline fees etc

Complaints

If you have a complaint about your trip please make it known to your guide as soon as possible who will normally be able to rectify the situation. If you feel that it has not been dealt with appropriately please notify us as soon as possible but no later than 14 days after the completion of your trip.
